Over a century of German innovation

SCHOCK

For more than a century, SCHOCK has stood at the forefront of German engineering, craftsmanship, and innovation in the kitchen industry. Founded in Bavaria in 1924, SCHOCK began with a vision to combine precision manufacturing with timeless design – a philosophy that continues to define the brand today.

Today, SCHOCK remains the original inventor and world leader in quartz composite sink technology, with millions of sinks installed in homes across the globe. Every SCHOCK sink is still proudly engineered and manufactured in Germany, where advanced production techniques meet meticulous quality control and generations of expertise.

From its Bavarian roots to its position as a globally respected premium brand, SCHOCK's story is one of continual innovation, uncompromising quality, and enduring German craftsmanship.

1924 – Founded by brothers Hermann, Karl and Wilhelm in Bavaria as a carpentry business.

1960s – Commencement of manufacturing decorative metals for radio/phono and furniture industries, alongside production of wall connection profiles and an expansion into bath products.

1979 – Invented the world's first quartz composite sink.

1988 – Invention of CRISTALITE® material; a groundbreaking innovation combining 80% ultra-pure quartz, the toughest component of granite, fused with acrylic, laying the foundation for the widespread success of quartz composite sinks.

2005 – Introduction of CRISTADUR® material – characterized by its virtually poreless structure, this innovative material delivers a radiant surface that effortlessly repels dirt, ensuring lasting cleanliness and brilliance.

2013 – First Jet Black CRISTADUR® sink is launched.

2015 – Introduces first Carbon Fibre Quartz Composite sink manufactured using revolutionary process.

2020 – CRISTADUR® Green Line range is launched, signifying a significant stride towards sustainability in line with the company's SINK GREEN ethos.

2022 – SCHOCK acquires The 1810 Company.

2024 – SCHOCK celebrates its 100th year since establishment and celebrates 45 years of quartz composite sinks.

NEVER ORDINARY. EVERY DAY.

Quooker®

SCHOCK's reputation for material innovation and premium German engineering has led to an exciting collaboration with Quooker® – the pioneers of the boiling water tap.

At the heart of this collaboration is the approval of SCHOCK's premium CRISTADUR® quartz composite sink material for use with Quooker®'s 100°C boiling water taps. Engineered for exceptional durability and thermal resilience, CRISTADUR® is specifically designed to withstand both sudden temperature changes and prolonged exposure to high heat, delivering the strength, stability and long-term performance demanded by advanced boiling water systems.

The CRISTADUR® non-porous surface offers outstanding resistance to heat, thermal shock, scratches, stains and impact – making it perfectly suited to the demands of modern kitchen living.

The collaboration also enables beautifully coordinated kitchen design. Selected visible parts for SCHOCK sinks and accessories complement Quooker® tap finishes, creating a seamless, design-led aesthetic with a refined premium feel throughout the kitchen space.

A guide to SCHOCK sink ranges

SCHOCK'S 100-year journey from a family led carpentry business to a leader in bold kitchen design and quality materials is truly remarkable. As pioneers of the quartz composite sink, the company continually innovates to offer aesthetically pleasing and customisable products, known for their durability and easy maintenance. Since their groundbreaking invention in 1979, they have remained committed to making kitchens more beautiful, comfortable and colourful through innovation, passion and craftsmanship.

SCHOCK's sink offering is split into three main ranges – CRISTADUR®, CRISTADUR® Green Line and CRISTALITE®. Below you will find a brief description of each of the ranges to help differentiate.

CRISTADUR® Green Line

Offers all of the benefits of the CRISTADUR® range (listed in the CRISTADUR® section below), while being manufactured mainly from natural, renewable or recycled raw materials. Available in 5 intense colours.

Colours:  Day  Night  Twilight  Dusk  Ivy

CRISTADUR®

SCHOCK's premium material, crafted to deliver a seamless blend of durability and design. With its patented, silky-smooth surface and intense colours, these sinks are not only incredibly tough and long-lasting, but also food-safe, exceptionally easy to clean and approved for use with Quooker® taps (check for the 'Approved for use with Quooker®' logo above in sink listings).

Colours:  Berry  Bronze  Magma  Polaris  Puro  Silverstone  Stone  Magnolia NEW

CRISTALITE®

A timeless favourite. SCHOCK's classic range known for its stony finish and natural colour options, whilst offering a tough, impact-resistant solution making it trusted and durable.

Colours:  Nero  Alpina  Croma  Asphalt
